

When I behave by three people,
I may surely be taught by the other two people.

Confucius

I can learn the right way to behave by observing a person who sets a good example.

I can learn how not to behave by observing a person who sets a bad example.

The diagrams of Dog and Chick*